Exhibition Gardens:.. We maintain two exhibition gardens, in LaPorte and at our farm four miles west of LaPorte. Visitors are welcome at all times and selections can be made from blooming plants growing under natural conditions in the garden and the field.

Ratings: The figures under the name of each variety give the rating voted by the members of the American Peony Society, based on a possible 100% perfect variety. The nearer to 100, the better the variety in the estimation of the voters. Those without numbers are new and have not as yet been voted upon.

Early Orders: Will receive prompt attention and assure getting the desired varieties.

To the Trade: Special quantity discounts quoted on request.

We have a great many new seedling varieties, unnamed as yet, which have been selected for superior quality. These are being checked and tested after transplanting and division. Not a few of them show unusual promise and although they are not for sale we will be glad to show them to visitors who may be interested during the blooming season.

The plants from which divisions will be made this year are three and four years old, grown in the field, with horse cultivation and in new soil where peonies have never been grown before.
